

Elevance Health

AAPD Fall Intern Position Description

As part of the Inclusive Policy & Advocacy team, you will assist Elevance Health in ensuring people with disabilities and older adults are included in healthcare and essential life discussions that will affect independence and access to care and services, as well as reducing healthcare disparities and inequities. Intern responsibilities include, but are not limited to policy and demographic research, tracking relevant legislation and news impacting disability and healthcare related policy, engagement with disability and aging stakeholders, stakeholder meeting and conference planning and participation, reviewing and responding to Requests for Proposals, and collateral development. You will have the opportunity to work with internal Elevance Health stakeholders in areas such as Diversity Equity & Inclusion, Commercial and Medicaid business divisions, Public Policy, Business Development, as well as with individuals in the external advocacy, provider, and legislative communities.

The internship is designed to grow today's young leaders by strengthening your understanding of the health care industry, supporting you in your personal advocacy and career goals, and preparing you for future professional opportunities. To qualify for the program, you must be enrolled in an undergraduate or graduate program at an accredited university or college and have a 3.0 or above grade point average.

Intern candidates will need to demonstrate a blend of talents and skills including:

- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- Knowledge of Business software including Microsoft Windows Suite, Internet based research techniques, and Professional Social Media Management
- Excellent Writing skills and the ability to read and summarize legislation, regulations, policy and healthcare documents
- Good time management skills
- Ability to work independently as well as on a team.
- Knowledge about state and federal legislation process, health care policy and disability history and culture a plus.
