

HOW TO VOTE IN TENNESSEE

A Quick Guide for People with Disabilities Voting in the State Primary Election on Thursday, August 1, 2024

Note: There are lots of different words and phrases used in voting and elections. We explain some of these words and phrases in this guide. Other definitions and examples can be found in our Voting Language Resource.

There are also phrases that might change based on where you live. For example, in this guide, we use the term "local election office." In some cities and towns, this office might have a different name. Your local election office might be called the county clerk, county election commission, board of elections, or something else. You can find that information by clicking on the links for each state that we have included in the guide.

REGISTERING TO VOTE

- How can I register to vote?
  - You can find out if you are already registered by visiting vote411.org.
  - Register to vote online at Tennessee's online voter registration website.
  - Register to vote by downloading, filling out, and returning the Tennessee voter registration form.
- When do I need to register? The voter registration deadline Tuesday, July 2. Be sure to register on or before this date. In this state, voters cannot register after the deadline or on Election Day.

- Do I need an identification (ID) to register? You will need to have a state address and your Social Security number to register to vote.
- Can I vote if I have a disability? Yes! People with disabilities who are 18 years old or older have the right to vote. Your vote matters and is protected by laws to make sure voting is accessible, independent, and private.
- Can I vote if I have a guardian? In this state, most people with guardians cannot vote. However, you can go to a judge to try to get your right to vote back. If you have done this already, your guardianship order will say that you can still vote. If your guardianship order doesn't say anything about voting, that means you cannot vote. For help understanding your right to vote and guardianship, contact the local Protection and Advocacy Agency \(P&A\).
- Can I vote if I have gone to jail or prison? If you have gone to jail or prison, you should check to see if you are allowed to vote. Some states take away your right to vote if you have gone to jail or prison. Learn about voting rights for people who have gone to jail or prison. You can also learn more from the Campaign Legal Center or contact the local P&A.

LEARNING ABOUT THE ISSUES

- What is a primary election? In some elections, only one person from each political party can run for an elected official position. For example, only 1 Democrat candidate and 1 Republican candidate can run in a race to become a Representative or Senator. But many people want to be elected officials, so the state hosts two elections. In the first election, every party votes on who their candidate will be. This is a primary election. Then, there is a second election that happens later with the winners of the primary election. This is the general election. In the general election, everyone votes for which of these candidates they want to elect to each office.

- What is a ballot? A ballot is a list of who and what you are voting for. Your ballot will list candidates who are running for different offices, such as Senator or Representative. You vote by marking your choice on the ballot. If you are voting by marking a paper ballot and not using a voting machine, make sure to look at both sides of the ballot. Sometimes, your ballot has choices on both sides.
- What is a ballot measure? Sometimes, your ballot will have ballot measures. A ballot measure is a law, issue, or question that you can vote on. Voters get to decide if they agree or disagree with the ballot measure by voting yes to agree or no to disagree. Learn about ballot measures on our resource page.
- Can I look at my ballot before I go to vote? Enter your home address in Ballotpedia's Sample Ballot Lookup. This tool will give you a "sample ballot," which will show you what will be on your ballot when you vote.

VOTING IN PERSON

- Where do I need to go to vote? The place where you go to vote in person is called a polling location. You can find your local polling location through the Tennessee Secretary of State's website. Find your polling location.
- Do I need an ID to vote in person? This state requires voters to show a federal or Tennessee state government-issued photo ID to vote in person. If you cannot afford to get a photo ID, you are hospitalized, or you live in a nursing home or assisted living center, you can sign an affidavit to vote. An affidavit is a written statement. When someone signs an affidavit, they promise that they are telling the truth. Learn about voter ID.
- What if I need help with filling out my ballot? You are allowed to have someone help you fill out your ballot. You and your helper must sign a form which says that you need help and that your helper will assist you with voting.

- Who can help me with filling out my ballot? You may choose someone you know to help you vote or ask for help from a poll worker at the polling location. Your boss cannot help you vote. If you are part of a labor union at work, the person who helps you vote cannot be your labor union representative. Learn about labor unions on our resource page.
- Can I vote before Election Day? This state allows any voter to vote in person before Election Day during the Early Voting period. The early voting period starts Friday, July 12 and ends Saturday, July 27. Vote early to avoid lines on Election Day!
- Can I vote outside of the polling location if it is inaccessible? This state does not usually allow people to vote outside the polling location if it is inaccessible. You can contact the local election office to see if they will make this accommodation. You can also contact the Secretary of State's office for assistance or vote by absentee ballot.

VOTING BY MAIL

- Can I vote by mail? If you have a disability or you will be away from home on Election Day, you can vote by mail in this state. This is called voting absentee by mail. (If a polling location is not accessible to people with disabilities, this is another way for you to vote.)
- Do I need an ID to vote absentee by mail? No, you do not need an ID when voting by absentee ballot unless you are voting for the first time in a federal election in Tennessee. Federal elections happen in even-numbered years. Learn about federal elections on our resource page.
- How do I request an absentee ballot? You must request an absentee ballot through the local election office by mail, fax, or email. Request your ballot.
- Can I get an electronic absentee ballot? This state allows some voters with disabilities to request an electronic absentee ballot. They must be blind, have low vision, have a physical disability, or have a learning disability that makes it difficult to read or mark a paper ballot. They can fill out the ballot electronically, print it, and return the ballot. Request an electronic absentee ballot.

- What is the deadline for requesting my ballot? The last day to request your ballot is Thursday, July 25. Request your ballot as soon as possible to make sure that you receive your ballot on time.
- What if I need help with filling out my ballot? You are allowed to have someone help you fill out your ballot. If you need help filling out your ballot, you must have a witness watch as you mark your ballot. Both the person who is helping the voter and the witness must fill out a form that comes with your ballot.
- Do I need to sign my ballot envelope? Follow the instructions on the envelope to sign your envelope when asked. This state requires this signature to match the signature on your voter registration form.
- How do I return my ballot? You must return your ballot by mail. Your ballot must be received before the polls close on Election Day, Thursday, August 1.
- Can someone return my ballot for me? No, only the voter may return their ballot to the election office.
- Can I track my ballot? Yes, you can track your ballot online to see if the local election office has received it. You can do this on the Tennessee Secretary of State's website. Track your ballot.
